Bosque Roibal

Nacido en el archipiélago balear, Daniel Roibal (Palma de Mallorca, 2001) inició allí su particular periplo vital y artístico: casi como si fuera un griego antiguo arribó a infinidad de lugares de donde extrae los argumentos de su pintura, académicamente aderezada en el Reino Unido, donde reside.

Pese a su juventud, Roibal ha logrado pronunciar un discurso plástico bien trazado, como el claro que se abre en un bosque semejante a aquellos con los que se encontró en la primera parada de su viaje: bosques costarricenses, inicial paraíso perdido, en mitad de un mundo natural en franca extinción, del que logra extraer toda su energía plasmando únicamente, no tanto el paisaje concreto como un registro sensorial derivado de su experiencia en él.

Así que sus telas, a veces linos crudos, rezuman un cromatismo voraz que no hay que buscar en esos retazos vírgenes perdidos sino en las sensaciones que le producen: al final, pese a las amenazas y retrocesos, es mucho más fuerte la vitalidad que nos ofrecen, o mismamente la voluntad de atravesarlos.

Su obra saturada y vibrante es como un collage sensitivo, producto de una desenfadada superposición de manchas y trazos entre los que asoma, ya en la linde de ese reino natural de gestos y signos, la silueta de algunas formas concretas, casi vegetales, casi lógicas: todo es como un verano sin interrupción en un movimiento espontáneo y fértil, en suma, para él, un espacio en que estar y pensar.

Daniel Roibal

Palma de Mallorca, Spain, 2001

Daniel Roibal, born in 2001 in Palma de Mallorca, Spain, is a contemporary artist known for his abstract paintings that invite contemplation and reflection. He earned a BA in Fine Arts from Chelsea College of Arts in 2024 and is currently pursuing an MA in Painting at the Royal College of Art in London.

Roibal's artistic vision is deeply influenced by his experiences with nature, particularly the Japanese practice of Shinin Yoku, or forest bathing, which emphasizes mindful immersion in natural environments.

This connection to nature inspires his work, aiming to evoke a sense of interconnectedness and presence. Roibal's paintings are characterized by their dynamic compositions and thoughtful engagement with the natural world, encouraging viewers to immerse themselves in the present moment.

Notable solo exhibitions include "Pilotism: The Millennium Nomads" in Beijing, China (2024) "PANORAMA" at Galería Fran Reus in Palma de Mallorca, Spain (2023), and "Canopy of the Anthropocene" at Hoseo ArtProjects in Seoul, South Korea (2024) as well as Voices at CICA Museum in Incheon S. Korea.

"Daniel Roibal masterfully directs the interaction between paint, canvas, and gesture, using a refined command of color to create dynamic, immersive compositions."
